360Biz Introduces GDPR Compliance Assistance

Orange, CALIF. (July 19 2018) - 360Biz, a provider of advanced, personalized websites to help companies meet the competitive challenges of their industries, has launched a new service to help businesses understand and satisfy their compliance responsibilities with GDPR.

General Data Protection Regulation, or GDPR, is a regulation that requires businesses to protect the personal data and privacy of EU citizens for transactions that occur within EU member states. Any company that stores or processes personal information about EU citizens within EU states must comply with GDPR, even if they do not have a business presence within the EU.

“Thousands of companies in the United States engage in online transactions with EU residents every day, so it is imperative that they are aware of GDPR requirements, and that they implement the data protection policies and solutions that will keep them in compliance with the law,” said Ron Zayas, co-founder of 360Biz.

For public sector entities uncertain about their compliance status, 360Biz will answer questions about GDPR, conduct a thorough review of every aspect of their website and online presence, and meet with the company to review the results.

“These days there is so much more to running a website than design and content,” Zayas said. “Our GDPR service, as with our ADA compliance services, ransomware protection, security, hosting and privacy services, is designed to deliver a comprehensive suite of online support. We help our clients optimize their online presence in a way that meets all national and international regulations, while still excelling in its main purpose – turning visitors into customers.”
